* Vogue covers throughout the magazine's history - the epitome of elegance and sophisticated glamour

"One of only seven editors-in-chief in American Vogue's history, Jessica Daves has remained one of fashion's most enigmatic figures, until now. Diana Vreeland's direct predecessor in the role, it is Daves who first catapulted the magazine into modernity. A testament to a changing America on every level, Daves's 'Vogue' was the first to embrace a "high/low" blend of fashion in its pages and also introduced world-renowned artists, literary greats, and cultural icons into every issue, offering the reader a complete vision of how fashion, interiors, art, architecture, entertaining, literature, and culture were all connected and all contributed to refining and defining personal style. Profiling icons of American style from John and Jackie Kennedy to Charles and Ray Eames, Daves's Vogue also featured the couture creations of Dior, Chanel, Givenchy, and Balenciaga. Organized in multifaceted, thematic chapters, '1950s in Vogue' features carefully curated photographs, illustrations, and page spreads from the 'Vogue' archives (with both iconic and less-familiar images from photographers including William Klein, Irving Penn, Karen Radkai, and Erwin Blumenfeld), as well as reproductions of fascinating archival materials and correspondence."--Publisher's description.

With expert analysis the author explores the contrasting representations of women from the exotic black dancer Josephine Baker in the
